Andrew Adler's call for Mossad hit teams to rub out Obama is big news in the Jewish community but has been suppressed in the mainstream.

Major Media Suppressing Obama Assassination Story

By Michael Collins Piper

As AFP predicted in the Feb. 6 edition, the call by the publisher of The Atlanta Jewish Times, Andrew Adler, for Israel's Mossad to utilize its American-based assets to assassinate Barack Obama has been almost entirely suppressed by the mainstream media. In contrast, the story has been big news in Israel and widely reported in Jewish community newspapers all across America.

Most astonishing — in response to Adler's provocation — is that there are many Jewish writers openly acknowledging there is a deep hatred for Obama within the Jewish community, which most Americans presume to be strongly supportive of the president.

A widely circulated analysis originating on Jan. 24 with the influential Jewish Telegraph Agency (JTA), admitted Adler's remarks were "an extreme expression of a viewpoint that carries great currency among Obama's Jewish critics: that the president represents a serious danger to Jews and to Israel," adding that "while few of those critics might go as far as Adler, it doesn't take much discussion in certain Jewish circles to find those who see something far more sinister in Obama than a president whose policies are bad for the Jews and Israel."

The JTA quoted Randy Silver, a Glenview, Ill. businessman, who asserted that he believes "Obama's overriding goal is to have Israel destroyed. [Obama] put steps in motion to bring about the destruction of the state of Israel."

A New Yorker told the JTA that "[Obama is] not a Hitler in the sense that he's anti-Semitic and wants to put every Jew into a concentration camp — at least not as we see things right now."

The JTA noted that "many longtime observers of the Jewish political scene" say the Jewish opposition to Obama reveals "an unprecedented level of vitriol."

Morton Klein, president of the Zionist Organization of America, told the JTA: "I've never seen as much enmity toward a president by American Jews as I do toward Obama. . . . Among those who care about Israel, he surely is to blame for it. Every chance he gets, he blames Israel."

And although there have been attempts to paint Adler's Atlanta Jewish Times as being somehow without influence, one of Adler's regular columnists is Chuck Berk, a leader of the Republican Jewish Coalition, who — as recently as Dec. 30 — was pictured in the Times in the company of Israel's consul general in Atlanta, along with the governor of Georgia and several state senators.

In the meantime, Scotty Reid — columnist for a black-oriented Internet site, ThyBlackMan.com — raised important questions: "Are there Israeli assassination teams in the U.S.? If Israeli Mossad agents are based in the United States, what they are doing?"

Reid also noted that, "Adler is not just some crazed or mentally impaired individual publishing outlandish conspiracy theories." Instead, Reid emphasized, Adler is not only publisher of a weekly newspaper but also producer of a local television show on which he has interviewed a number of Israeli government officials.

While the JTA suggested most Jews still claim to support Obama, the JTA did not mention that polls showing significant Jewish opposition to Obama could be enough to cause Obama to lose the electoral votes of key states, particularly in the Northeast, where politically active Jews in large numbers reside.
